who we are

Teslatel is a dynamic company offering fixed and premium telephonic services in the national and international telecommunications market.

The strong technological know-how, which combined with the professionalism and passion of its management, is the company key to providing innovative and flexible telephonic solutions.

The company name is a tribute to Nikola Tesla, the famous, renowned scientist and inventor, who was the first to experiment with wireless communication as well as innumerable other discoveries. We are reminded that in recognition of his scientific achievements his name was given to the unit of measurement of magnetic induction, the “tesla” (T symbol).

The founders of TESLATEL sincerely hope that the spirit of inventiveness, resourcefulness, craziness and geniality, which accompanied Nikola Tesla throughout his life, will permeate the entire company and all the people who work and collaborate with it.

Voice and VAS for Smart People

This is the slogan that sums up the mission and vision of our company, that is, to produce and offer voice and premium services to all those people (companies) who are active in the forefront of this sector; to those entities that are pro-reactive, dynamic and ready to use audacity and courage to face the challenge of an increasingly competitive market, which, for this reason, is still so full of opportunities.

values

The three mainstays of our company philosophy are technology, innovation and support.

Technology. We are not simply a telephone provider, we are much more and want to emphasise this loud and clear! We are a viable and reliable market alternative because we are masters of the technology we use; we build it with our own hands and we shape it, turning ideas into rocklike reality.

Innovation. Every day we wake up and think about how we can devise new services to improve the world in which we live. It might not happen every day but when we do find something we can feel the force of the vital energy permeating our minds and our senses.

Support. We offer highly specialised and professional support services. No call centres, just highly qualified technicians capable of supporting your business minute by minute.

We monitor your traffic and your services consistently, everyday, 24-hour non-stop, this is the difference.

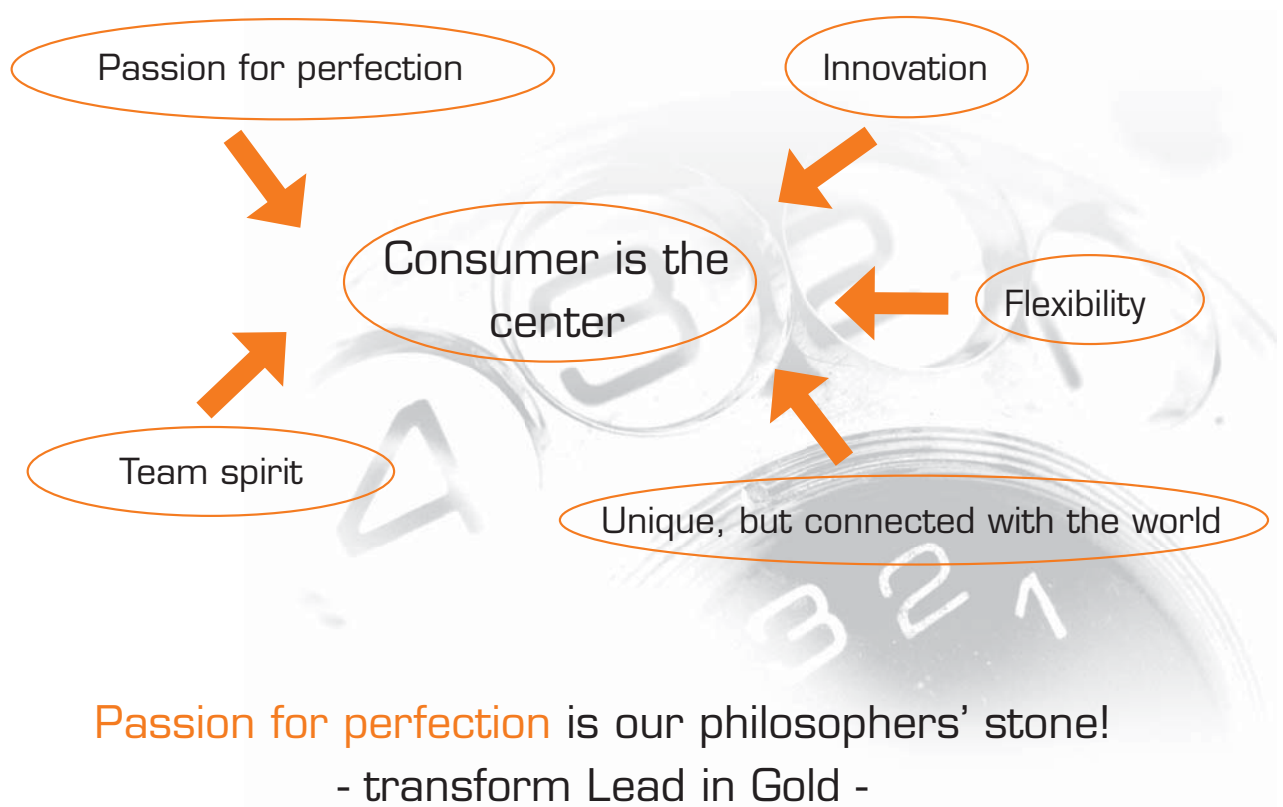

... about perfection

Perfection is subjective and is the image of the passion.

It is an inner attitude and for Teslatel is a foundation of the company.

The operative terms to our users are: accuracy, consistent definition and brightness of the results.
